Light and crisp, but there's a serious, smoky and herbal terroir character here that gives the palate considerable energy. Drink now. Screw cap.

Sleek and elegant with some of the finesse that makes the wines of Niederhausen on the Nahe special. Rather fine lemon and white-fruit character and a long and mineral finish. Drink now. Screw cap.

An unusually supple and creamy wine for the Nahe, thanks to the chalky soil of this site. Lots of lemon-pie character, but also Chablis-like minerality at the long finish. Drink or hold.

At first glance, you get the concentration and the lemon-curd and peach character. Then, when you look again, there's a whole new level of depth and complexity. Rather bold, long finish. Where is that lobster? Drink or hold.

This is a very elegant Spätlese with a ton of peach, nectarine and citrus aromas and a great balance of succulence and vibrancy. So bright and joyful at the finish. Drink or hold, if you can resist it right now.

Much more youthful than Schneider's regular bottling of dry riesling from this site. Very racy, vivid and complex, this delivers a serious jolt to the nervous system. Very long, radical finish. This shows why, back in 1904, the Hermannshöhle was classified as the best site on the Nahe. Drink or hold.

Hold on to your hat, because this is an extremely concentrated botrytis wine that retains a stunning lightness of touch, in spite of the huge concentration and intensity at the enormous, whiplash finish. And yes, it must have a lot of sweetness, but you barely think about that. Drink or hold.
