This dry Nahe riesling has the distinctive wild-herb and grapefruit notes I associate with the volcanic soils in many of the region's top sites. Racy and elegant with some drive for this humble category. Drink now. Screw cap.

A very harmonious, lighter-bodied dry riesling with plenty of red-apple aroma and some spice that's very food friendly. Drink now. Screw cap.

So floral and mineral, this has a very sleek silhouette, but moves with such grace over the palate that it's really seductive. The hint of natural sweetness on the mid-palate accentuates this. Such a filigree finish with so much delicacy. Drink or hold.

Lovely, peachy nose with subtle, floral overtones. Juicy and playful at the front, but with good depth behind and just a touch of positive tannin to give the finish a bass note. Drink or hold. Screw cap.

Where is the blue cheese (Forme d'Ambert)! A seriously concentrated Spätlese with an entire spectrum of stone-fruit aromas, this seductive riesling is really hard to resist, in spite of quite generous sweetness. So much power and subtlety at the long, complete finish! Drink or hold.

Plenty of ripe-nectarine character and a lot of juicy fruit, but a super-clean finish, making this a very attractive Spätlese that isn't a jot too sweet. The long, vibrant and juicy finish pulls you back for more. Drink or hold. Screw cap.

Welcome to the smoke hole! Such a striking wine with so much smoke, yellow-grapefruit and wild-herb character and an exciting, tense balance of body, crisp acidity and tannins. Great energy at the finish. Drink or hold.

Dazzling exotic-fruit character is married to lush grape sweetness and electric acidity that makes the finish a fireworks display of mineral and dried-fruit character. Enormous aging potential. Drink or hold.

Very exotic, but still light and delicate, this has great stone-fruit and fresh-pineapple character and brightness that makes it extremely appealing. I love the interplay of minerality and succulence, the finish so bright and dynamic. Drink or hold.

Stunningly complex nose of sage, wild herbs and many colors of citrus zest. This is at once concentrated and lively with a very long, citrus-mineral finish that lights up the sky. Drink or hold.

This has clearly been built to last. The deep, citrus and stone-fruit character is married to quite pronounced tannins (from skin contact?) that make it a bit closed. Serious structure, complexity and good balance, but rather little charm at the moment. Better after 2021.

An elegant and playful Auslese that moves on tiptoe across the dance floor. Then, lush sweetness, married to citrusy acidity and bright minerality at the long finish. Excellent potential. Drink or hold.
